COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY AUG. 15, 1922.

NUMBER 43

The Passing of a Noble Young Man.

On Monday morning, August 7, the Death Angel passed over Zion community, taking from our midst one of the most noble and consecrated young men of the county, Prof. R. O. Cabbell, a son of the late William and Elizabeth M. Cabbell, born Jan., 1875, making him 47 years old at the time of his death. The immediate family left to grieve his passing is a beloved sister, Mrs. John Young, five brothers, H. F., J. C., and E. E., of Missouri, L. C., of Dunville, and R. M., who gave him the kindest attention during his illness, they having resided together.

At the age of sixteen he became a member of Pleasant Hill Church. From that time until his death he lived a life that showed to the world the value of a Christ-like spirit and the far reaching influence that a life of those with whom they come in contact. A man of deep convictions, high ideals, and sterling characteristics. For a number of years he was the county's leading vocal instructor, teaching schools in this and adjoining counties. His last class being the school children in his home community. Altho he had been in delicate health for some years his condition did not become serious until Sunday. He grew rapidly worse until the end, but he bore his suffering with fortitude, as always looking on the cheerful side.

The funeral services were conducted at his home Tuesday morning, by Rev. R. V. Bennett and Eld. Z. T. Williams, who paid high tribute to noble traits of character and the exemplary life he lived. The esteem in which he was held was shown by the large gathering of friends and many beautiful floral designs.

After services he was laid to rest in the family burying ground beside parents and sisters. X X

Sunday Aug. 20, Rev. Carson Taylor will begin a meeting at Rocky Hill schoolhouse. The morning service will begin at half past 10 o'clock and hold one hour. Night service begins at 7 o'clock. Every body is cordially invited to come Dies Suddenly at His Home.

Mr. A. B. Bradshaw, commonly called "Art," one of the best citizens in the Bliss neighborhood, died very suddenly last Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, while sitting in a chair at his home. Mr. Bradshaw had for some time been afflicted with heart trouble, but he was most generally up, looking after the cultivation of his farm. When the end came he was in his family room, sitting near a window reading a newspaper. His daughter, who is at home, was very devoted to him, came into the room where he was sitting and asked if there was anything he wanted. He answered "no," and she returned to her household work. Presently she returned to her father's room and found him dead. He had laid his head on the window sill and passed away without a moan.

He was in his 69th year and from a young man he had been one of Adair county's best citizens. Children from home were notified by wire, and the burial took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Bradshaw was strictly a religious man, a member of the Presbyterian Church, honest in all his dealings, a man that will be greatly missed. His father, Adolphus Bradshaw, died when the subject of this notice was an infant.

JERUSALEM!

What a Crowd, Gathered at the Campbellsville Barbecue Last Saturday.

FOUR COUNTIES IN ATTENDANCE.

The big barbecue staged for Taylor and adjoining counties came off last Saturday, the meeting place being in a woodland owned by Mr. Henry Turner north of the Lebanon pike and in the suburbs of Campbellville. It was given in the interest of the co-operative tobacco movement, and early in the morning growers and their friends commenced to arrive, and by the dinner hour between four and five thousand people were on the grounds and on the streets of Campbellsville.

The movement to have this barbecue in the interest of the tobacco growers was started by Mr. Sam Bottom, who is working in the interest of the farmers, all the business men of Campbellsville assisting, lending their influence to make the day one that will prove as profitable as it was enjoyable.

At 11 o'clock the court-house bell notified the assembly that Judge I. H. Thurman, of Springfield, would deliver an address in the interest of the movement and the court auditorium was soon filled with eager listeners. Judge Thurman is an enthusiastic advocate of the Co-operative plan; he knows every feature of the tobacco game, and also the needs of the farmers. His speech was full of truths and he advised all growers to sign their crops in order that they might get a fair compensation for their labor. The speech enlightened a vast majority of the speaker's hearers, and they left the court-room fully satisfied that all farmers should join the movement. Judge Thurman is a man of weight intellectually, hence his utterances count for something.

From the Court-house all repaired to the grounds, and in a short time dinner, consisting of four or five beehives and large number of sheep, cooked in ditches on the grounds, and other necessities that go to make up a good substantial meal, was ready. It was certainly highly enjoyable. The committee who was in charge of the dinner deserve to be complimented for the well cooked food.

When all was filled Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, who has been working for a number of years in the interest of Kentucky tobacco growers, being a grower himself, addressed the large assembly. But few men know the needs of the farmer better than Congressman Cantrill, and being a fluent speaker, he had the closest attention. He stated that 60 per cent. of the tobacco growers lived on mortgage farms, due to the system they have followed in marketing their crops. He declared to avoid this loss, the co-operative marketing was the only remedy. In Kentucky he said we grow one-half of the tobacco that is raised. He further stated that the Burley Tobacco Association had adopted the method of the large manufacturing co-operation and it was now receiving the same prices they got. It was a great speech, throughout, and did much toward further stimulating the growers of this section of Kentucky.

During the day the merchants of Campbellsville did a good business. The Buchanan-Lyon Company served ice water from morning until late in the afternoon, and to this firm the Adair county delegation is under obligations for courtesies shown.

At intervals, during the day the Campbellsville Brass Band made the welkin ring with delightful music. When the hour for separation came everybody were expressing to each other "glad we spent Saturday, August 12, 1922, in Campbellsville in the interest of the co-operative movement."

During the entire day of mixing with this large concourse of people, we did not see a person who looked like he had taken a drink of ardent spirits, nor was whisky detected on the breath of any man.

We called at the News-Journal office, and learned that Mr. Gozder was with a camping party at Bluff Boone, that Mr. Dowell was mixing with the assembly. Miss Catherine Colvin, the Linotypist, was present to receive orders.

To The Taxpayers.

I will be in my office, on Monday and Saturday of each week, for the purpose of receiving your tax lists.

The law requires each person to list his or her property at its full value, and also requires each individual giving a list to take an oath that he will give a full and complete list at 100 per cent value.

By complying with your duty in this respect, you will avoid trouble and obviate the necessity of having your list raised later by the board of supervisors.

An Immense Dinner.

Last Sunday was the 52nd birthday of Mr. W. G. Ellis, who lives at Garlin, and the occasion was duly celebrated. A most bountiful dinner, consisting of the very best the country affords was spread before more than one hundred invited guests, and it was prepared in such a manner that a most fastidious epicurean could not have found a dish that could have been improved, in cooking or otherwise.

Mr. Ellis had left home early in the morning with some friends, and he did not know of the dinner until he returned about 12 m., and observed the long tables in the yard. He was at once reminded of his birthday, and no man could have appeared more happier. He was profuse in his thanks, and stated that to see so many friends who had called, filled his heart with emotions.

Mr. Ellis received some nice presents and his guests a most delightful dinner.

In the afternoon Rev. Doner and others made religious talks. The singing was conducted by Mr. Geo. Blair.

Died Near Hartford.

The father of Rev. R. V. Bennett, who lived in Ohio county, died last Thursday and was buried Saturday. He was 65 years old and an excellent Christian gentleman. Rev. Bennett reached his father's late residence in time to attend the funeral. In the loss of his parent he has the sympathy of this community.

Glad to See Him.

Mr. J. E. Gowdy, of Campbellsville, who has been our friend ever since "Uncle Bob Parrott sold Pearmane's, you know," called in to see us last Thursday. We are always glad to see the boys of halcyon days of young manhood, and talk about events of the long ago. Them days are long since gone, John, but when our time comes to cross to the other side we will be made to feel happy when we meet our friends who left us in their early manhood. We were exceedingly delighted to talk with our friend, but feelings of sorrow passed through our frame when he related the serious condition of G. W. Redman, Ruff, as he is familiarly called. A big hearted man, but his affliction is incurable, only a short while until his earthly pilgrimage ends. When he leaves Taylor county will lose one of its wealthiest and most accommodating men, especially the poorer class, hundreds of whom he has helped, bringing smiles to the unfortunate, and at the same time making his own heart glad. We believe when he reaches the pearly gate he will meet St. Peter with a glad hallelujah.

Sues for $25,000.

James Diebold to-day filed suit in the Marion circuit court against J. L. Gaskin, in which he seeks damages for an assault alleged to have been committed on the night of July 29th.

The petition sets out that the defendant on this date, and not in his necessary or apparently self defense, assaulted and beat the plaintiff about the head with a pistol and also shot the plaintiff, the ball grazing his head dazing the plaintiff and rendering him for a time unconscious. It is further charged that while he was in a dazed and defenseless condition, Gaskin, continuing the assault, dragged him from the garage of the Cozatt Gartin Motor Company to the Vaughan Hotel. The petition states that, as a result of the assault, the plaintiff suffered great physical and mental pain and was greatly humiliated, and asks damages in the sum of $25,000 for this, in addition to the sum of $875, for medical bills and traveling expenses.

Gaskin, who is a Federal prohibition agent and said to live in Russell county, was arrested here on Thursday of last week on warrants charging him with operating a motor car without the consent of the owner, with assault and battery, and with shooting at with intent to kill. Shortly after his arrest, he was released on bonds aggregating $3,700 for his appearance before the grand jury at the September term of court, an examining trial having been waived—Lebanon Falcon.

Mr. Gaskin was in Columbia one day last week. We did not have a talk with him, but we understand that he stated that he did not fire his pistol at Diebold—that it went off accidentally.

At Rest

Last Thursday morning, about 8 o'clock, Mrs. Willie Belle Vaughan, who was the of Mr. O. C. Vaughan, an, died at her late home two miles from Columbia. She was fifty-odd years old and had been an invalid for more than a year, a victim of pulmonary trouble. Early in life she made a profession of her faith in Christ and united with the Baptist Church. She was a consistent Christian and was ready for the Master's call. She leaves a husband and five children; two children had preceded her to the grave. She was a kind and obliging neighbor and she will be greatly missed by those who were near and dear to her. After religious services, the remains were interred in the city cemetery, by the side of her two children. There were many beautiful floral designs

Contempt Case Checked.

Last Tuesday morning, about 3 o'clock, Chief Justice Rollin Hurt, of the Court of Appeals, was roused from his slumbers by Clem Huggins and other attorneys of Louisville, and asked for a restraining order preventing Judge William H. Field from collecting a fine of $90 against Huggins, imposed by Judge Field for contempt of Court. Judge Hurt granted a temporary restraining order until September when the case will be tried out before the Court of Appeals.

Tenth Birthday.

Last Thursday Miss Bernice Yurrell, the oldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Murrell, celebrated her tenth birthday, by entertaining ten little girls. Refreshments were served and the afternoon was most delightfully enjoyed. Besides having the nicest of edibles, all kinds of innocent games were played. Miss Bernice received a number of presents.

Get ready now and take the whole family to the Columbia Fair.

Critical Condition.

Mrs. Feta Eubank met with a stroke of apoplexy last Saturday and she has been in a very critical condition. Little hope is given for her recovery. Her two daughters, who live in Louisville, Mrs. Leonard Hardesty, and Mrs. Leo Wright and her son-in-law, Mr. Wright, are with her.

Attend the Columbia Fair and enjoy the thoroughbred trotting and pacing.

We, the children, of Arthur Bradshaw, want to thank all the friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses that they showed our dear father in his sickness.

Quick Trip.

W. H. Sandusky left Columbia last Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock; arrived in Louisville at 9 a. m., swapped his Ford Runabout to Herman Barnett for a new Ford Touring car, spent four hours in Louisville, and returned to Columbia, arriving at 8 p. m., same day. He was going some.

Fair Week.

This paper will be published the week of the Fair on Monday. All correspondents and advertisers will bear this in mind, and get their matter in not later than Friday afternoon.

Dr. W. J. Flowers' residence, on Burkesville street, presents a very inviting appearance. It has been re-covered with metal and the dwelling repainted and a handsome sun parlor added. The color of the dwelling has been changed from a dark gray to a bright yellow and the trimmings are white. The porch facing the street leading to the Graded school building has also been remodeled. Mr. Horace Walker was in charge of the wood work, and his helper was Douglas Durham, who has gotten so he can saw to the line and hit a nail on its head every stroke with the hammer.

Don't fail to attend the Columbia Fair and see fine exhibits from all parts of the country.

Malcom Stults, son of Mr. Charley Stults, while making preparations to shoe a mule, one day last week, was kicked on the jaw by the animal, and fortunately he was not seriously hurt, but it was a miraculous escape.
